At 0815 hours on 25 October, a very large truck, about the size of a locomotive, moved from Dushak to a spot along the railroad opposite Post-i-Khojeh and then moved about one kilometer in the direction of the border. At the same time, two trucks from the direction of Kaakhka, one truck from the Archengan post and two trucks from Dushak rendezvoused with the large truck. The five small trucks then fanned out from the rendezvous and pursued courses towards the border and returned to the rendezvous in approximately two hours' time. At 1000 hours the large truck, together with two of the small trucks, moved off in the direction of Kaakhka; two of the remaining trucks went to Dushak and the last truck returned to the Archengan post. [redacted] what appeared to be two straight bars stuck up in front of the large truck.
